THE LAW OF GOD VS. THE GRACE OF GOD.

A sermon on "The Law of God vs. the Grace of God," by Rev. J. Herman Baughn, pastor of the Michelson Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, attracted wide attention and its publication has been requested and is herewith given. The text was from Romans V, 20, 21: "And the Law came in besides, that the trespasses might abound; but where sin abounded, grace did abound more exceedingly: 21 that, as sin reigned in death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Mr. Baughn said: "The wages of sin is death." That is to say, death is the reward for sin. As a result of sin, death is the penalty. But the law of God says that if you sin you shall die. But, "Where sin abounds grace did much more abound." The end of the law is death but the beginning and end of Grace is life eternal. When Moses brot the children of Is-attached then it is no less right for God's law to have a penalty attached. But the law brings us to death and leaves us there. The law does not give life, it gives death. The law of God says that if you sin you shall die. But, "Where sin abounds grace did much more abound." The end of the law is death but the beginning and end of Grace is life eternal. rael down through the wilderness to the very banks of the Jordan river he could go farther and Joshua came and led them over into the promise land and on their way. Now Joshua means Jesus. And as Joshua led the Children of Israel past the Jordan so Jesus leads his people thru the dark valley of the shadow of death into life eternal. He is the "Good Shepherd." He it is that leads his people in and out that they may find green pastures.

While John the Baptist stood in the Jordan baptizing the people he could only say "I baptize thee in the name of Jehovah." He brot the people down into the water and one day while he was at work he glanced behind him and beheld Him the Son of God. (Continued on last page)

GIVING THE PEOPLE WHAT THEY WANT

GRAYLING LAUNDRY SUPPLY-ING A MUCH NEEDED SERVICE.

The people of Grayling have in years past spent thousands of dollars in the payment of carrier charges for transporting their soiled linens to and from laundries situated in other cities. Besides this expense, they have had to stand the inconvenience of once a week service and with oftentimes delays that reached into the following week.

This is all done away with and all that is necessary is for the housewife to call the laundry on the phone and her bundle of soiled clothing, bedding and other washable household articles are called for and in a brief time returned all nice and clean. This is a service that should meet the hearty approval of everyone in the community. We have heard nothing but praise for the excellent quality of work that is being done at the Grayling laundry, and it is indeed gratifying to get clothes home all nice and clean and to know that they have been handled in the most sanitary manner.

Following is a communication that has been sent us by the laundry company for publication. Read every word of it. It reads as follows:

"We believe in Grayling; we believe in its future; we believe in making Grayling a bigger and better town to live in. We believe in making Grayling a cleaner town to live in. We believe in washing your clothes cleaner and better than they have ever been washed before.

"If you are a believer in Grayling and wish to see Grayling grow, patronize the laundry. Every stockholder of the Laundry Company is a firm believer in the future of Grayling.

WANT TO ATTEND BIG POTATO SHOW

AT GAYLORD NOV. 7th, 8th and 9th.

The Top O' Michigan Potato Show which is to be held at Gaylord on November 7th, 8th and 9th, from the standpoint of the potato grower, is the greatest single factor making for the prosperity of farmers in Northeastern Michigan which has been proposed during the year. It's unifying influence which will work towards the goal of uniting the growers of the northeast counties, and its educational advantages, to be accrued from grouping the potato growers, together under one roof for a discussion of new methods of growing, new machinery, improved fertilizers, and higher grade seed stock, are both incalculable results to be derived from a potato show.

A need for a potato show has been apparent in Northeastern Michigan since the first celebrated northeast Michigan potatoes, exhibited by Ernest Pettifor at the Duluth International Potato Show in 1922 were adjudged the best over all samples shown at the show. In order to advertise the quality of the northern grown potatoes, as exemplified by the stock of Mr. Pettifor, the Top O' Michigan Potato Show was organized and established as an annual institution in Otsego County. Its success depends to a great extent on the showing made at the first show by the growers of Northeastern Michigan.

Marketing will be dealt with extensively at the Gaylord tuber show. Marketing specialists will give speeches at the various sessions of the show, and the problems confronting the grower will be entered into and solved by men who realize the intricacies of the Detroit and mid-western markets. Potato buyers will be present to explain to the growers the value of selecting and grading their spuds.

Football.

Coach Crane's Wildcats again triumphed over their ancient adversary Mancelona here on the Polo Grounds last Friday p. m. to the tune of 12-0. Mancelona has not crossed our goal line so far this year. The game was fast from start to finish and the efforts of Coach Crane's coaching was brought out in every play to great advantage. Clarence Ingalls, our "high school Kipke" scored the first touchdown by pulling down a forward pass that was thrown by our quarterback "Mike". Ingalls ran about fifteen yards for a touchdown. "Kid" Reagan increased the lead when G. H. S. pulled a fake play off punt formation. Reagan ran about thirty yards for a touchdown. But line battled hard and heavy and held 'em and made the holes when our backfield wished to get thru. Interference contributed much in the line of winning the game and our "Wildcats" showed the pep and fight all thru the game, but above all could be seen the spirit of fair play and real sportsmanship.

They lined up as follows:
E. McPhee—F. B.
M. Martin—Q. B.
C. Ingalls—R. H.
E. Reagan—L. H.
W. L. LaGrone—L. B.
L. Moresby—R. E.
D. Cripps—L. G.
C. Isenhauer—R. G.
O. Ingalls—R. T.
G. Granger—L. T.
H. Rureski—C.

Sub.—Edmonds for Cripps.
Touchdowns—C. Ingalls 1, E. Reagan 1.

Referee—Hatch (Central League).

Head Linesman—B. E. Smith. (G. H. S.)

The game was won by:

Ingalls and E. Reagan's touchdowns.

Mike's signals and passes.

Mac's punting and interference.

Moresby's and Wae's tackling.

Isenhauer's and Edmonds's defense.

Rureski's tackling.

Granger's gallant receiving and runs.

O. Ingalls's tackling and running.

During the minutes between the halves of the football game with Mancelona, something very funny happened. Every one of the laughing youngsters was jeering, and older ones were holding their sides with laughter, but where was all the fun coming from, we could not imagine until someone spied "Jake Cripps in a football suit."

SPORTSMEN HOLD ANNUAL FEAST

LARGE ATTENDANCE AND MANY OUTSIDE GUESTS.

The annual banquet of Crawford County Sportsmen's association was held last week Thursday night, Oct. 25, at the Board of Trade rooms. About 70 sat down to a well appointed dinner, consisting of half a wild Mallard duck with dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, vegetable salad, celery, pickles, cheese, rolls, pie ala mode, coffee and cigars.

The rooms were appropriately decorated. A number of deer, and moose heads adorned the walls, also some fine specimens of snow shoes, boat paddles, firearms and other things that may reasonably be expected to be found in a hunter's cabin. Claud Gilson was chairman of the decoration committee and everyone says they did well.

Elect Officers.

Immediately after the banquet, President M. Hanson announced that it would be necessary to hold a brief business session and elect officers and directors for the ensuing year, and requested that an entirely new set be elected at this time. The result was as follows:

President—T. W. Hanson.
Vice President—Elsbeth Hanson.
Secretary—Treasurer—Claud Gilson.
Directors—T. E. Douglas, M. A. Bates, Louis M. Mead, Dr. C. A. Canfield, Dr. C. R. Keyport, Edwin S. Chalker and Wm. H. Cody.

A financial report of the secretary-treasurer, O. P. Schumann, was read and adopted. An amendment was passed, changing the annual meetings from August to the third Thursday night of October of each year.

A very interesting address was given by President M. Hanson, outlining the conditions of fishing and hunting as they appear today. A lively discussion followed with many excellent opinions as to the cause of the depletion of trout in our streams, the pike and merganser ducks being given due credit for a large amount of willful depredation and destruction of trout. Also the increase of fishermen upon the streams exact a larger toll than in the earlier days when the fish were more plenty.

A number of reels of motion pictures showing wild life, were shown and it was about 2:00 a. m. before the

DANCING SCHOOL TO OPEN.

Prof. Kahn, who conducted the dancing classes here last season, is to hold classes again this winter at the Burke hall.

Mr. Kahn was in the city this week making preparations for the opening. The opening class is to be held next Wednesday evening, November 7, at 8 o'clock. While here he consulted quite a number of his former pupils in regard to this year's work, and expressed himself as more than pleased with the enthusiasm shown. The new steps, stated Prof. Kahn, are very graceful and should be mastered by those who like to trip the light fantastic in a short time. Assembly dancing parties will be featured after classes only, which will be very enjoyable with orchestra music.

MORTENSON-LYDELL.

Clarence Mortenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mortenson of Beaver Creek, was united in marriage to Miss Viva Lydell of Flint, daughter of Mr. D. W. Lydell.

The ceremony took place at Big Rapids, Oct. 29th, where the bride was attending Normal. After the ceremony the couple drove to Grayling, where they will remain for a short time.

This date being the forty-first anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mortenson a party of neighbors were invited in and an enjoyable evening was passed.

Ford Four-Door Sedan

$685 below, fully equipped.

Inside and out, the new Ford Four-door Sedan shows improvements of far more than usual importance.

It is lower and sturdier in appearance. New cowl, hood, radiator and apron add size and finish to the front. Sun visor, and wide, well-finished aluminum doors with bar handles perfect the design of the body.

The lasting lustre of the exterior finish is equalled in richness by the soft brown shades of the silk window curtains and the deep broadcloth upholstery.

Dome light, door locks, window regulators and handles, all finished in nickel, complete a refinement you would expect only at a far higher price.

Convenience, utility and economy have established Ford supremacy. The Four-Door-Sedan adds to these factors greater Ford prestige.

ROBBING THE CHURCH TILL

And now comes the report that someone has been pilfering money out of the collection box, used for foreign missions, at the Danish-Lutheran church. For some time, this pilfering has been going on it is reported, and small sums at a time have been taken, until the practice had become so general that the money was finally missed. Just now some of the trustees of the church are trying to find the match for foot-prints that were made recently when the raider entered a window. The perpetrator should be found and, if of adult age, should be made to pay the penalty for his wrongdoing. If a youth, then the parents may still be able to offer the right kind of counsel and advice that is going to block the road to the penitentiary for this young person. Discovery is sure to follow acts of these kinds, and humiliation and remorse come to parents who are not deserving of such treatment from their children.

TELLS OF JAP QUAKE HORROR

SON OF GODFREY HIRZEL OF GRAYLING WAS IN TOKYO AT TIME OF DISASTER.

The following letter from William Hirzel, son of Godfrey Hirzel of Moorstown, describes the fearful earthquake in Japan where he was located at the time. It is the first accurate and complete description received here and tells of all his feelings during and after the disaster.

Tokyo, September 15, 1923.

My Dear Brother:

It was two weeks ago yesterday since we had the big earthquake. In some ways it seems a thousand times as long ago, and yet, somehow, I cannot realize that two weeks have slipped by.

I hope that you have already learned of my safety, either from the New York office, or through the newspapers. Our Kobe office cabled New York regarding the safety of our staff, and I understand that the American Embassy cabled to the American newspapers the names of all the Americans that were reported safe.

The shock came almost exactly at noon on Saturday, September 1st. I was in my office working at my desk. I had about a half a second of warning before the main shock. The first indications were several upward pumps as though there was somebody under the floor striking upward with a sledge hammer. I went at once to the door and stood in the open doorway, as I have often been told that is the best place to be in case the ceilings fall. I had to hang on tightly to keep from falling. The motion lasted somewhat more than a minute, and may be compared to what you would feel if you were riding in a freight car at about fifteen miles an hour when it jumped the rails and ran along the ties. Of course there was a lot of noise. The building creaked and groaned, filing cases tipped over, electric fans fell from their positions, and everything that could rattle or squeak joined in the chorus. Our offices are on the fourth floor or a five story building. Needless to say I was scared, but I wasn't panicky. I had a vision of myself lying in the ruins, a beam across my body so that I couldn't move, but at the same time I felt that my luck would be better than that. While the shake was still going on I looked at my watch to note the time. Then I turned my attention to the swinging lamps to see that I didn't get rapped on the head by one of those. As soon as the shaking stopped I straightened up my filing case, closed the drawers and locked them. Then I put the papers on my desk away, and ran into Mauger's room. Mauger was absent that day, and I was looking after his desk. His little office boy was in the room all alone. Mauger has two steel filing cases standing side by side, the drawers of which are well filled with papers. I had unlocked the drawers earlier in the morning, and when the quake came they all slid out as far as they would go. When the cases tipped forward the drawers struck the floor and held the cases from going near down. That plucky little kid was wrestling with the cases trying to straighten them up. I helped him, and then we put other papers away in a jiffy. I knew that there would be fires, so I went to the hall and ordered the staff to put all our books and valuable papers into the road tracks, abandoning everything. I took about ten minutes to do all this, and when it was done I happened to think that Mr. Silva, the man with whom I lived, had gone away from town for the day, and had especially asked me to watch out for his wife and child. He feared to leave them alone overnight for he said that he knew the streets would desert them in case of fire or other emergency. Our house is a ramshackle old thing, three stories high, and about thirty years old. I started for the house at once.

First I ran to a garage where I was known and tried to get a motor car, but none was to be had. Street cars were out of commission of course, so I started for home at a jog trot, and it was about 95 degrees Fahrenheit out there in the sun. I caught three short rides on passing trucks and automobiles, and covered the three and one-half miles in twenty-five minutes. Once on the way there was another severe shake, and I stopped and held on to a tram-car pole. I saw a frightful lot of damage on the way, and began to realize what a bad shock we had. All the people were in the middle of the streets, so as to be as far as possible from falling buildings. Hundreds of houses were down, wounded people were in the streets, in some places people were frantically digging into the wreckage of their houses to find the missing. Such sights made me sick to think what I might find at our own house, and you can imagine my relief when I got near and could see the roof, and could tell that the house was still standing.

I went to the door and called, but got no answer. I went inside and found considerable damage, and the house was deserted as though nobody had been there for some time. Up stairs plaster was over everything, ten dishes and glassware were scattered about, but I could see no evidence of anybody having been hurt.

Outside I found a Japanese who had seen the family escape, so I went inside and wrote a note which I pinned on the door. Then I went back to the office, and had to walk all the way. I grabbed my kodak as I left the house, and got a few pictures along the way. Fires were breaking out everywhere, and I saw a dozen or more big ones, including some near the office.

In some places there were great cracks in the earth. I have heard wild tales about earthquake cracks, so I investigated the ones I saw. They were all in ground that had been filled in, and the deepest one I saw was about eight feet deep. I imagine its depth was exactly the depth of the fill. It was about two feet wide in its widest place and extended for five or six rods. I think that the stories we have heard about cracks extending down to the bowels of the earth are all hot air and imagination. I have noticed that these cracks don't close up, except by action of the rains and by natural settling.

When I got back to the office, I found some of the Japanese staff still there. Mr. Cushing, the only other American who stayed in the office through the quake had gone to see if he could do anything about a couple of our laborers who were in a building that collapsed near our office. It was a building under construction and was already pretty well along, the walls being up for seven stories. It collapsed and killed about two hundred workmen, including two of our men who were there installing in elevator. The bodies are all still lying there under the wreckage. Cushing lives in Yokohama, and as it was next to impossible to get back that night I asked him to come out to my house for the time being. While I was giving him instructions on how to get out there we had another quake that was almost as bad as the first. I was pretty sore at myself for having come back to the office, and I vowed to stay out if I ever got out again. But the old office building stood nobly. It is of reinforced concrete construction, which seems to be about the best outside of timber. I tried to get off some cables, but there was no chance. The telegraph and cable offices were out of business.

There was nothing more to be done about the office, so I went outside to rest my weary limbs and watch the city burn. I figured that our office had a fifty-fifty chance of being saved. I snapped a couple of pictures of the fires nearest me, and then went home, where I busied myself in getting together some drinking water and food. Some refugees came to our house and stayed for several hours. The fires kept getting more and more terrible and by midnight two-thirds of this big city was ablaze. The roar of the fire fairly made the ground tremble. People in our neighborhood were panic-stricken as it certainly looked like the fire would sweep us out. I walked out about a mile towards the fire and judged that it would not reach us for six hours at least, and then I went home and got into bed, advising everybody else to do likewise, for I figured that we would have excitement enough the next day. But the household wouldn't let me sleep and I had finally to get up and move our household goods out on to the railroad tracks back of our house. It was bitter, hard work, and I had been on a milk diet for a week. Then there were all sorts of crazy rumors. One bunch of idiots came and ordered us to move everything off the tracks because a tidal wave was coming. I told them to go to blazes. Every fifteen minutes or so we would have an earthquake shock to add to the excitement, and every now and then somebody would come in with a prediction of a terrible shock that was to occur at a precise moment. I got pretty well bored with rumors that night. You can imagine that I was glad when morning came. My judgment about the fire proved pretty good. The fire got within a half a mile of us within six hours then stopped.

The next day was Sunday. I spent the day resting, and in getting water and food. Silva returned at about two o'clock, for which I was very thankful. Along towards evening the rumors were that a bunch of Koreans were on the way, killing everybody in sight, and that a lot of socialists were coming to burn our houses down. I never saw such a silly people as I had to deal with. Cushing and I kept our heads, but everyone else ran away like a jiffy. I knew that there would be fires, so I went to the hall and ordered the staff to put all our books and valuable papers into the road tracks, abandoning everything. I took about ten minutes to do all this, and when it was done I happened to think that Mr. Silva, the man with

It was dark by that time, and there were no lights. I packed my trunk and got out two blankets and three coats, while Cushing got the food together. The panicky people had communicated their fright to me in some degree. It is pretty hard to tell what is going on when you can't understand the language. Two women, a child, a Japanese woman servant, and we three men struck out down the railroad tracks carrying our burdens. We were stopped once or twice by some evil looking men, but they let us go when we showed fright. Finally we got out into the street, where soldiers and citizens were gathering under arms. We saw a lot of arrests of what were said to be Koreans, but I imagine that most of them were Japanese, strange to the neighborhood, and too frightened to give good accounts of themselves. We sat down in the street between two car tracks until about eleven o'clock and then went back to our house. Nothing had happened there, but during the night there was a great lot of excitement again. Everybody was on guard, and some of the farthest out insisted that the attacking party was coming. We stayed out hours all that night.

During all this time the most horrible stories kept coming in from Yokohama. Unfortunately most of them have proved to be true. The destruction there by the earthquake itself was indescribable, and fire swept up almost everything afterwards. We lost our offices and all our warehouses there. The loss is pretty heavy I assure you. Some of my acquaintances lost their lives, but not of my close friends. Mrs. Silva's sister was killed, and her body was burned in the ruins. It is terrible. Only two or three people escaped from the Grand Hotel. My friends the Smiths happened to be out of town, and thus escaped. Their house is utterly destroyed. In Yokohama the destruction is so thorough and complete that those who knew the city best have great difficulty in locating the sites of buildings they wish to find.

I have been very busy in a business way during the past two weeks, and have had little time for personal correspondence. We are trying to find out where we stand. It is no easy matter, as so many of our customers have lost everything. It took quite a time to check up all of our employees. It is almost a miracle that we lost nobody except the two laborers mentioned above. Everybody else escaped.

In one place here in Tokyo thirty-two thousand people were burned to death in one enclosure. This number is not exaggerated. No one will ever know how many people perished. Thousands jumped into the river and were carried out to sea. For many days bodies could be seen everywhere about the bay. The authorities are burning the bodies as fast as they can and doing the best possible work for the poor devils that have to do it. A whiff of it turns me deathly sick. It is pretty well finished now.

All the Americans are being provided for. I have been having enough food, and have had to draw on the relief supplies only for bread once or twice. We are being particularly careful about drinking water, and other health matters, so you need not worry. I expect to stay here as long as the Company wants me to, and I think that we will be able to do a fair business in connection with the rebuilding. We are in better shape than lots of others, as we saved our records here in Tokyo, and have a going organization at Kobe.

I shall not be able to write any more today, but later I will try to send you some pictures of the disaster.

With love and best wishes to everybody. Your affectionate brother,

Wm. Hirzel.

SAXON DIET HAS BEEN DISPERSED

REICHSMANN TROOPS LEAD MINISTERS FROM GOVERNMENT OFFICES

HEINTZE GRANTED WIDE POWER

Chancellor Stresemann Opposed by Socialists for His Aggressive Policy.

Dresden—The entire Saxon government was deposed by reichswehr troops Monday afternoon. Soldiers led the ministers, including Premier Zaigner, from the government offices. The diet was dispersed by troops who entered the capital chambers during a legislative session. Many of the lawmakers were reported arrested. President Ebert appointed Dr. Heintze commissar for Saxony. This action was taken after the Dresden government earlier in the day had rejected Berlin's ultimatum that it resign.

Dr. Heintze will have wide powers under the reich to carry on administrative powers that were formerly vested in the Saxon cabinet.

Dr. Heintze was the last minister of justice in the old kingdom of Saxony. Later he continued as minister of justice under the republic. He belongs to the right wing of the German People's party.

Berlin—The German crisis Monday took the form of a political battle against Socialists in the federal cabinet. Chancellor Stresemann's position is one of the utmost difficulty with the Socialist ministers pressing him to desist from his aggressive course against Saxony, or at least proceed with equal sharpness against reactionary Bavaria.

Bavaria is likely at any moment to declare a new "federal government" with Dr. Von Kahr, former dictator, at its head, according to rumors in generally well-informed quarters tonight.

FARMING BOOM PROMISED U. P.

Cheaper Explosive for Clearing of Land Obtained.

Lansing—A financial independence for Upper Peninsula farmers as a result of more productive acreage due to land clearing, is forecast by the extension department of the Michigan Agricultural college.

There is a vast amount of tillable land in the Upper peninsula which could be put to use in producing a high type of agriculture it is pointed out, if it were cleared of free stump by a cheaper method than the present use of explosives or by the long and arduous method of hand grubbing.

The land clearing department of the Agricultural college has now announced that a new war salvage explosive for use in land clearing has been made available for distribution among Upper Peninsula farms.

This explosive can be used for shooting stumps, rock blasting and for all other agricultural blasting, according to L. F. Livingston, head of the department. Of a total of 18,000,000 pounds which is now available from the United States government, Michigan probably will receive 3,000,000 pounds within the next two years.

CHICAGO SEALS 1,000 BARS

Enforcement Proceedings Hit Many Property Owners.

Chicago—First fruits of President Coolidge's law enforcement conference with the governors of the several states were seen here in the action of Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe in setting aside this whole week for the hearing of injunction suits against violators of the Volstead act.

More than 200 petitions for permanent injunctions seeking for one year the property used in dispensing illegal "soft drinks" were placed on the special docket.

In line with the suggestion of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty before the White House meeting October 20, C. W. Middlekauff, special assistant attorney general assigned to prohibition cases in northern Illinois, has taken charge of the injunction proceedings.

U. S. SUBMARINE O-5 IS SUNK!

Collision With Freight Steamer Sends Three to Death.

Panama—Three members of the crew of the United States submarine O-5 were drowned Sunday when the vessel was sunk in collision with the United Fruit Co.'s steamer Abangarez at the Atlantic entrance of the Panama canal.

Seven other men went down with the submarine in six fathoms of water, but one came to the surface eight minutes later.

Two of the five men reported missing on the submarine O-5 at Panama have been rescued from the sunken ship, the navy department was informed officially late Monday.

NOTICE.

To Farm Bureau members and all farmers interested in the future of agriculture in Crawford county:

The annual meeting of Crawford County Farm Bureau will be held at the Court house in Grayling on Saturday, November 10th at 10:00 a. m. A full and prompt attendance is requested as some important questions are to be considered.

FREDERIC SCHOOL NOTES.

Primary Department.

Winnifred Lewis, Ernest Richards, Russell Munroe, Wilson Cox, Edith Buhner, George Thayer, Maxine Sheldon, Elaine Lewis, Sanford and Lila Charron, Antoinette Gardner, Ila Welch, Erma Barber, Adam and Ambrose Horning and Beatrice Johnson were neither absent or tardy last week.

Carlton and Harley Curns are in school again after a long absence.

We have brought our library books down stairs and the children from both Intermediate and Primary rooms enjoy reading them.

Helen Cline has gone to Detroit to visit her father for a few days.

Freshmen School Notes. Editor—Annabelle Hunter. Asst. Editor—Evelene Barber.

Ether—"Why, when I saw him coming my heart started beating."

Harry—(interrupting) "Is that so? My heart has beat for seventeen years. Hasn't yours ever beat before?"

The High School had a perfect attendance for a few days last week.

Bright Sayings—Florence—Oh, my joy and patience. Constance—It will soon be my chance.

Bernard—See my new plaid skirt? Marguerite—Giddap Babe. Mary—No kidding about it, Harry's a good singer.

Lola—I wear spit curls.

The blackboards in the High School room were decorated with examinations last Thursday and Friday.

We are all glad to have Winnifred with us again.

Evelene had her shoes shined so pretty Monday morning. We wonder who she is trying to vamp.

Miss Chase—"What is all that noise in the assembly? These poor Juniors can't get their lessons because of it."

Mr. Payne—"Why, that is only Marguerite studying Civics."

Mr. Payne said he would have to start a class for the benefit of the Freshmen to learn them their multiplication tables.

Elsie—(entering the library)—Have you read Freckles Annabelle?" Annabelle—"Not that I know of, they all look brown to me."

Edna—"What's the matter Leota? Do you stay out too late at night?" Leota, (wearily)—"No, I stay out too early mornings."

Mary—"What is that noise they are making down there?" Evelene—"Dummy, that's the organ."

Potato Talk.

Potato show, Top O'Michigan Potato Show at Gaylord, November 7, 8, 9, for thirteen counties of Northeastern Michigan.

Drive Up!

All the farmers of Crawford County ought to drive up. The going is good now since we can use the new gravel road from Frederic to Waters. It's gravel all the way from Roscommon to Gaylord. All the city folks of Roscommon, and Grayling and Frederic ought to drive up to see what good potatoes look like—then demand such when they buy.

Farmers ought to go to see what nice potatoes look like—then produce them, for nice potatoes are within the farmer's power—if he takes pains.

They Want Us To Come Too.

The management of the Potato Show wants Crawford County to have a table with a county exhibit on it. A county exhibit consists of 12 samples of 32, clean, smooth potatoes, all of the 32 just of a size.

Guess We Can't.

I don't see how we can enter Crawford County in the show, for only seven men in the county have come to the front with potatoes. We are five lots short. Maple Forest alone should have offered 12 lots, enough for the county exhibit. Beaver Creek should have offered as many; so should South Branch.

Should Have Been Able To Select. Instead of having to strain to get the 12 required samples, so many should have been offered that a committee would have been necessary to select those 12 lots that would represent the county. If there are five or six families in the county that want to earn my life-long gratitude they will furnish 32 well-selected potatoes each within a few days. The exhibits have to be taken to Gaylord by the County Agent in the morning of November 6 to be arranged in the show.

Why Don't Women Help? Why can't some of the farm wives take an interest in this and see that the farm is represented? Why not? I know I will hear it.

All winter I shall hear: "I was up to the Potato Show. I had just as nice potatoes at home as any I saw there."

Say, gents! If you could only guess what I feel like saying at such times!

November 7-8-9 Will Roll Around. The date for the Top O'Michigan Potato Show will soon roll around whether Crawford County is prepared or not through the don't care feeling of its farmers.

Such a feeling never got the man nor his community anything.

This is the last appeal I shall make. Response to appeals for progressive and good things always enriches and ennobles the life of him who responds.

General Potato News.

Fall is the time to look out for next spring's seed potatoes. At the Gaylord Potato Show you will be able to get into touch with growers of good seed.

Lee E. Sneathen, grower of certified seed, of Charlevoix County, won first prize recently in the International Potato Show at Duluth, in the Russet Rural class, and also won Grand Prize for the best peck of potatoes in the whole show.

These honors will again turn the eyes of all potato buyers towards Michigan as a source of good seed. Buyers will take advantage of the Gaylord and Grand Rapids shows to get acquainted with seed growers.

If farmers of Maple Forest want buyers to be eager to place cars and to buy at Frederic and Waters, their best move would be to make a strong showing at the Gaylord Potato Show.

Same for the South Branch and southern Beaver Creek farmers if they want buyers at Roscommon. Same if Benedict School District settlers want buyers at the Reservation or Houghton.

Potato business is a big one. There are days when as many as 1600 cars of potatoes are shipped from points in the United States.

There are days when there are over 500 cars of potatoes on the tracks in Chicago.

There are days when our own Michigan ships 125 cars. As long ago as October 13, Michigan had shipped 1328 cars as against 2042 on same date last year.

In government potato price quotations, price is always given per hundred pounds.

Anyone may have the government daily market report on potatoes mailed free to him regularly by simply asking R. H. Shoemaker, State Bank Bldg., Benton Harbor, Mich. You get it fresh a few hours after it is prepared.

Michigan Standard Grades for Potatoes went into effect as law October first, 1923.

Potato Grading Inspection. According to the tentative plans of the State Department of Agriculture with reference to the work of inspecting potato grading, the inspectors will be located at Greenville, Cadillac, Gaylord, and Detroit. These inspectors in the big market centers in an effort to prevent shippers from shipping anything not properly graded and labelled.

The following notices will be sent to each shipper in a few days and these must be posted in one or more conspicuous places where farmers and others can see. The use of these posters will make it much easier for a potato shipper or buyer to convince farmers that the rejection of big and little culls and other undesirable stuff is necessary in order to avoid prosecution. As everyone will be treated alike, one buyer will not be able to buy and ship poor quality stuff refused by another.

Another copy of the Michigan Standard Grades is enclosed. Read it carefully and keep for reference.

Notice.

Potatoes delivered at this station are subject to inspection for conformity to grade.

Buyers and shippers must see that all potatoes are sorted and sized to meet the requirements of Michigan Standard Grades and that all sacks and bulk shipments are properly marked to indicate the grade.

Ignorance of the Law is no excuse. Prosecution will positively follow violations.

(Potato growers are urged to assist in this movement to build up a better reputation for Michigan potatoes by keeping culls and poor quality stuff at home. A large share of the responsibility for good market quality in potatoes rests on the shoulders of the grower.)

State Dept. of Agriculture. What Fertilizer Does. Remember It When You Plant Next Spring. Regarding the grading of Maine

potatoes we quote from a recent letter from E. W. Morton, Maine Potato Growers' Exchange: "As a result of our program of standardization, our customers inform us that the grade established is not only much higher than for several years, but surpasses the grades established by our competitors."

And Maine potatoes are grown to eat. Maine Cobscook is ripe and palatable, as ours would be if we grew them; and Maine's Green Mountains are forced to early maturity and a high degree of table quality by the use of PLENTY OF FERTILIZER. Our Michigan potatoes get the size and shape of high-quality stuff; but, when grown on soils naturally deficient in potash, they never attain that condition of mealy maturity peculiar to potatoes grown on soils well supplied with the right kind of plant food.

Big Sales of Certified Seed. Fifty carloads of certified seed potatoes have been sold by the certified seed department of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange.

This year for the first time in the certified seed movement in Michigan, a well organized movement is behind certified seed sales.

How far would these growers have got had each one tried to go it alone?

DELICIOUS PUDDINGS
FROM HOMINY GRITSComparatively Inexpensive and Excellent for Breakfast.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Hominy grits are comparatively inexpensive, and are excellent as a cooked breakfast cereal or as a foundation for other dishes. Here are two recipes for using hominy grits, recommended by food specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture:

Hominy Date Pudding.
1 cupful hominy grits.
1 cupful milk.
1 teaspoonful salt.
1/2 cupful of sugar.
1 cupful chopped seeded dates.
1 teaspoonful vanilla.

Add the salt and hominy grits to the milk, and cook in a double boiler one hour. Add sweetening, dates, and vanilla and mix well. Partly cool before serving.

Fruit Scallop.
1/2 cupful cooked hominy grits.
1 cupful stewed and sweetened apricots.
1/2 cupful apricot juice.
1/2 tablespoonful butter.

Put in a greased baking dish place, first, a layer of hominy grits which have been mixed with the fruit juice, then a layer of the stewed fruit. Repeat until dish is nearly full. Put over with the butter, and sprinkle with one tablespoonful of sugar mixed with cinnamon. Bake until brown. Serve hot or cold with sauce or top milk.

Dried or canned fruit can be used.

KITCHEN TABLES AND SINKS

It Frequently Happens That Working Surface Is Much Too Low for the Housekeeper.

Kitchen tables and the bottom of sinks are frequently too low for the housekeeper to stand and work at comfortably. Low working surfaces are often responsible for tired backs and rounded shoulders because of the undue stooping and the strain on the arms and shoulders.

The following figures suggest the proper heights of working surfaces for women of different heights:

Height of Woman. Inches.
4 feet 10 inches..... 28
5 feet..... 30
5 feet 2 inches..... 32
5 feet 4 inches..... 34
5 feet 6 inches..... 36
5 feet 8 inches..... 38
5 feet 10 inches..... 40
6 feet..... 42

The kitchen table can be raised to the proper height by the use of blocks of wood, the United States Department of Agriculture suggests. One type of block has a socket in which the table leg fits securely. Another type has metal strips and screws or nails for fastening it to the legs of the table or cabinet.

GIVING OUT.

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Grayling.

Around all day with an aching back. Can't rest at night. Enough to make any one "give out." Doan's Kidney Pills are helping thousands.

They are for kidney backache; And other kidney ills. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Grayling proof of their merit: Mrs. W. H. Cowell, Maple St., says: "My back bothered me, especially at night and I felt all tired out. When I stooped I was in misery on straightening and bending, felt nervous and depressed. I felt just as tired mornings as I did when I went to bed. Often black specks floated before my eyes, which made me dizzy. Severe headaches caused many a distressful hour. My kidneys were in poor condition when I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I used several boxes and after taking them I felt fine."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cowell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

THEORIES AS TO DIAMONDS

Many Causes Put Forward for the Breaking of the Hardest Stone
Known to Exist.

Much attention has been given to the question of the origin of the numerous broken fragments of diamonds found in the Kimberly mines. One hypothesis is that these fragments owe their condition to violent eruptive outbursts that shattered the rocks in which they occur. Another common belief is that certain classes of diamonds frequently break spontaneously. One authority states that light brown, smoky diamonds often crack on exposure to the dry air, but they will remain intact if kept in a moist place. In accordance with this notion there is a popular story of South African diamonds being sent to England inside potatoes.

Another authority seems to attribute the fractures to the sudden lowering of pressure in the space surrounding diamonds and speaks of consequent explosion. He states that he has met persons who have heard of the bursting of smoky diamonds, but none who ever witnessed this phenomenon with his own eyes.

This idea of the bursting of diamonds is of great antiquity. Albertus Magnus says that a diamond immersed in the fresh, warm blood of a goat will burst, especially if that animal had previously browsed on parsley or drunk wine. Pliny vouches for a similar notion.

The majority of modern authorities believe that, in most cases, the breaking of diamonds has been due to the energy exerted by the mineral inclusions which they so often contain. These are most frequently garnet, but sometimes zircon, limonite, iron pyrites and possibly chrysotile. The thermal expansion of nearly all crystals, except those of the beryl family, at ordinary temperatures is much greater than that of the diamond. If the same is true under intense conditions of heat and temperature, differences in the rate of expansion and contraction of the diamond and its inclusion would account for the shattering.—Washington Star.

Waterway Not New Idea. Project of Connecting the Oceans Through Canal Across America Is Ancient One.

As early as 1522—seven years before the Panama canal project was first talked about—Gil Gonzalez Divala explored Nicaragua in an effort to find a natural waterway or to select a route for a possible canal. In 1550 Antonio Galvao, a Portuguese navigator, proposed four routes for a canal across the isthmus—one by Lake Nicaragua and the San Juan river. The latter route was surveyed for the Spanish government in 1781 by Don Manuel Gálizte, about fifty years later John Bailey, an American, mapped out the route, and in 1872 the American government became interested. President Grant particularly favored a Nicaraguan canal. A company was formed and a construction expedition actually arrived on the scene, but the firm went into the hands of receivers.

The French started the Panama canal scheme, but because of rotten politics at home and yellow fever on the isthmus, it ended in dismal failure for them. The United States bought out the French interests and dug the Panama canal, but only after it had waged a strenuous battle against disease in Panama and reclaimed that country to health and sanitation.

Suggestion for Painters. Painters have painted the first long pants, the first step, the first love, the first dance, but no one has ever painted the first shave.

The first shave is a dramatic and profound adventure. Sometimes it is for the sake of a girl and sometimes it is undertaken out of a growing admiration for the sandpaper on father's cheek.

It is also secret. With father's brush and soap the face is lathered behind closed doors and with father's razor the countenance is harrowed, raked and scraped. Disappointment is great that there is no loud, raucous sound as the down is harvested.

One young man, now known to his few friends as a modest, manly and simple-spoken citizen, went so far as to shave his forehead on this occasion long ago.

Vienna Police Camera. Some months ago, in Vienna, I saw a very ingenious photographic camera, invented by the official photographer to the police of that city. When taking the photograph of the scene of a crime the camera superimposed a scale upon the plate in such a way that a scale plan was no longer necessary, since the scale showed the exact distance in centimeters of every object in the field from the camera and from every other object. The invention had been in use in Vienna for some time, but it was unknown to any other force.—Sir Basil Thomson in the Saturday Evening Post.

Milton's Comeback. No one has ever called John Milton a wit yet the great poet could on occasion say a snappy thing, as an old letter, recently discovered, shows. Charles II desired to meet Milton, and when he did he made the bitter remark, "God hath punished you for your malice toward my father by taking away your eyesight."

"Aye," said Milton, "but before I lost my eyes he lost his head."—Boston Evening Transcript.

RED CROSS HELPS
WAR'S SUFFERERS

Aids 200,000 Veterans and
Their Families—27,000 Disabled
Still in Hospitals.

SPENDS $5,866,255 IN YEAR

Individual Attention Assured to All Physically Ailing or in Distress.

Washington. — War service five years after the armistice, which on November 11 the American Red Cross marks with the opening of the annual membership canvass, shows that during the past year assistance was extended by the Red Cross to some 200,000 ex-service men or their families. To 130 hospitals throughout the country approximately 75,000 ex-service men were admitted for treatment, and to 63,296 of these men definite and specialized service was extended, the Red Cross annual report discloses. In all hospitals under government operation a total of nearly 27,000 disabled veterans were reported by the Surgeon General of the Army.

These facts of the aftermath of physical and mental disability five years after the World War, and the burden resting upon the relatives and dependents of the ex-service men, show conclusively the great need of the Red Cross to act as a supplementary arm of the government in service to these many thousands of men who wore the uniform of the United States.

It should be emphasized that government assistance is necessarily standardized along specified lines affecting them as a whole. The Red Cross service is to the individual man and the solution of his problems. This the Red Cross designates "home service" for its aims to give the loving care and interest of the home to these men undergoing physical reconstitution far from their actual home influences.

Year's Expenditures $5,866,255. In the year ended last June 30 the Red Cross reports $5,920,000 spent by its Chapters in extending individual attention to the ex-service men and $1,946,255 spent by National Headquarters of the Red Cross, a total of $5,866,255. In behalf of the men called to duty in the World War the Red Cross since July 1, 1917, has spent nearly $164,000,000. Today there are 2,508 chapters in as many localities carrying on this work, aiding the individual veteran, assisting his family, furnishing creature comforts, and funds to tide over troublesome periods.

The strong connecting link between the Red Cross and the United States Veterans' Bureau takes the complications out of difficult cases of claims. The Red Cross in this work requiring personal representation of the ex-service man has acted in appeal cases, insurance matters, personal and family problems, camp and hospital activities, and in cases of death. This service handled nearly 12,000 compensation and insurance claims, and 2,225 allotment and other claims.

Solves Serious Problem. The financial problem of the ex-service man when traveling to and from hospitals is a serious one, and in meeting this constant demand the Red Cross expended $138,334.17 during the year. For extra recreational equipment in Veterans' Bureau training centers $14,306 was spent, and for the blind veterans in the government school funds were supplied to enable some of these unfortunate men to enter business as storekeepers and poultry raisers.

In Veterans' Bureau hospitals the record of a single month illustrates the large service rendered by the Red Cross. For example, 15,504 new cases required attention, and a total of 26,007 cases were acted upon; 3,368 letters and 1,863 telegraph messages written, and more than 1,600 entertainments given in recreation houses for the benefit of the patients.

Authorities declare that the present is a critical time in the lives of many of the disabled ex-service men who during the five years since the armistice have developed misgivings of recovery.

Work Among the "Regulars" Service to the enlisted men of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps is a charter obligation of the Red Cross, which in the last year recorded over 200,000 cases of assistance extended and $34,420 visits to the sick and disabled. Inquiries by the Red Cross at the request of Government authorities into the home conditions of soldiers, sailors and marines aggregated 17,714, and there were nearly 6,000 instances where the Red Cross located men for their families.

All these activities constituting a single responsibility of the American Red Cross demonstrated during the year that its "war service" in behalf of the veteran and the man enlisted in the nation's defensive arms must go forward unflinchingly and without stint of funds. The work of the last five years has welded a close bond of regard between the men who sacrificed and the Red Cross, whose efforts are praised and indorsed by the veterans' organizations. To do all that can be done to offset the consequences of the hard blows of war is the supreme duty of the Red Cross, to which it is giving its best work and most liberal service.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Zalsman Sunday and a farewell party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lydell, Monday after which they left for their respective homes, via the M. & N. E.

The carnival dancing party given by Schram's Ramblers last Friday evening marked the opening of many pleasant parties to be given by this group this season. There was a fine crowd present and everyone seemed to be having a good time. The hall was decorated in keeping with Halloween and among the features were a couple of "moonlight waltzes." During one of the dances confetti was tossed about among the dancers, and light feather dusters were passed out as favors. Those who attended had such a pleasant time that no doubt they are already making plans to attend the Chinese balloon party that will be given on Friday evening, November 9. There were a number of out-of-town guests.

One of the loveliest dinner parties of the season was given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reagan at their home Saturday evening. There were twenty-eight guests present and they were seated at small tables placed through the dining room and front rooms. The house as well as the tables were decorated most attractively with Halloween decorations. After enjoying a most delicious dinner the evening was spent playing bridge. Mrs. C. M. Morfit and A. J. Joseph holding the highest scores.

Mr. Veddes, entertainer and lecturer, gave the Danish people a treat at Danebod hall Tuesday evening, when he showed a number of stereopticon views of Denmark, among which were views of paintings from the interior of the cathedral of Viborg. He explained each picture as he went along and told interesting things about each. Mr. Veddes, who has been touring the United States, came here from Chicago, and left Wednesday for Niagara Falls on his way back to Denmark.

The sad word was received during last night by Dr. C. A. Canfield of the sudden death of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Gunn of Detroit. Mrs. Gunn and her family were residents of Grayling for many years moving to Detroit about 20 years ago. There are still many of the older residents who remember this estimable lady and who will learn of her demise with regret. Mrs. Gunn was 75 years old and is survived by one daughter, Miss Anna Canfield of Detroit three sons, Grant and Frank of Detroit and Charles of this city. Mrs. Gunn was also a sister of Mrs. Charles T. Jerome, a former resident of Grayling but now of Pontiac, Dr. and Mrs. Canfield left this afternoon for Detroit to be in attendance at the funeral.

The noonday meeting of the Board of Trade at Shoppington Inn today was taken up principally by an address by Mr. Hoshall—an advertising expert with the Kelly Sales Service Syndicate, who is this week conducting a special sale for the Peterson jewelry store. His talk was alive with good community suggestions, and he told the members what he believed they must do in order to keep this town on the road to success. Mr. Bailey also had some timely things to say and requested suggestions from the business men as to means by which the farmers of this county can make more money, and also ideas that are going to assist them in selling their meat products, saying that the thousands of dollars that are being sent to Chicago from Crawford county farmers.

"Newspapers gradually are becoming strong, self-sufficient business organizations, with no hidden master, independent of the large local advertiser or banker, fearless and uncompromising defenders of the public faith and the public welfare," and while commercialism is now the dominant note, there is no reason to believe that it is more than a passing phase," declared James Wright Brown, editor of Editor and Publisher, talking on "Tendencies of present day journalism," before the University Press club of Michigan recently.

Wayne county's budget as approved in final form by the county board of supervisors is $7,635,512.11. Income to the county treasury from various sources provides approximately $2,000,000 of the amount required to run the county this year, leaving $4,774,191.22 to be spread upon the county tax roll. Property in the city of Detroit, which pays 79 per cent of the total county tax will be required to pay $3,863,744.30 of the total county tax. The county tax rate will be $1.82 per $1,000 of valuation this year.

Inmates of Marquette branch prison have organized two foot ball teams, called the Colored Giants and Coran's College of Reform. The Giants won the first game, 26-13. Other games are scheduled with Northern State Normal School and Marquette Legion teams. The prison teams are equipped with old uniforms donated by the University of Illinois.

Emil Glasser, 53 years old, a justice of the peace at Escanaba for more than 50 years, died at his home last week. He was a veteran of the Civil war, was wounded at Gettysburg and was one of Lincoln's guards of honor when the Gettysburg national cemetery was dedicated. He organized the first G. A. R. posts in the upper peninsula.

After a year's service in the ministry as pastor of the Congregational Church at Mattawan, the Rev. B. F. Townsend has resigned to re-enter the Army. He will be stationed in Kalamazoo and will have charge of a three-year recruiting campaign there with the rank of sergeant. Mr. Townsend entered the Army as a private in 1913.

Joseph 3-year-old son of Percy W. Woolley, who lives south of Clinton, was killed recently by a Port Marquette train. The boy had wandered away from home and followed his father's two hunting dogs to the railroad tracks. One of the dogs led the brakeman, who had picked up the unknown lifeless form, to the child's home.

Dr. C. M. Overstreet, of Detroit, was elected president of the Michigan State Optometric association at its annual business session at Battle Creek. Dr. Overstreet formerly was chairman of the bureau of publicity of the association, where his work was his main occupation.

Students of the University of Michigan who distinguish themselves academically will be given public recognition through a special "honors" convention, which probably will be held in the spring. Plans of the various schools and colleges have approved the plan.

For the twentieth successive time Mrs. J. K. Jackson, of Orono, was elected president of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Kalamazoo district, at the closing session of the annual convention here.

St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, at Monroe, closed since March 21, when it was damaged by fire. It has been repaired, and the church was founded more than 112 years ago.

Separatists, Communists and Reactionaries Make Things Lively in Germany.

GOV. WALTON IS IMPEACHED

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

RHINELAND separatists, Bavarian reactionaries, communists in revolt and socialists dissatisfied gave Chancellor Stresemann and the German government a lively time last week. On the surface it seemed the side empire was on the point of dissolution, but closer study of the situation leads to the belief that the German federalism will hold together for some time yet, though the states probably will be more autonomous and less closely united, and the dominating influence may shift from Prussia to Bavaria.

Endorsing being separatists, led by an elderly merchant named Leo Decker, proclaimed the Rhineland republic on Sunday. Starting at Aachen, in the zone occupied by the Belgians, the movement spread to other cities during the next two days.

The police giving way quietly and bloodlessly this being avoided. The French and Belgians remained neutral, seeking only to preserve order. Matthias Brugner and Siegers, the prominent leaders of the separatist plan, hurried to the scene and the first named took command, Decker being set aside. It was admitted by the wiser ones that the coup had been sprung too soon, and this became evident as the socialists, communists and workers got into action. A. F. M. Wiesbaden, Mayence and other places the separatists were routed from the municipal buildings, and Matthias and his associates fled from the city, where they had set up their temporary government. At Crefeld, a large city on the Rhine, the separatists defeated the police in a long battle in which 100 were killed and 200 wounded. On the whole, it is believed, the Rhineland separatists may be said to have failed. However, there was a rumor that their efforts would be continued by the proclamation of a republic favorable to the Reich.

The communists, incited by Soviet Russia, started a revolutionary movement on Tuesday. Orders were issued by their central executive committee in Berlin for the sabotage of the railways. Meanwhile the senate declared the government suspended from office and transferred Lieutenant Governor Trapp to assume his duties, and then organized itself as a court of impeachment. Among the things of which Trapp was accused are:

1. Diversion of public funds to his private use.

2. Prohibiting the convening of a legally ordered grand jury.

3. Use of his official influence to acquire private credit and property.

Accepting a bribe to approve a legislative bill.

Suspension of the writ of habeas corpus.

Unlawfully preventing a meeting of the state legislature.

Attempted prevention of a special state election in violation of law.

The governor did not sit quiet under these attacks, but persistently refused to recognize the right of the senate to suspend him, and obtained from one of his judges a temporary restraining order directed against Trapp. The other side got a counter-order from the State Supreme court. Walton and his friends charge that the expenses of the legislators who gathered for the session on September 20, which he dispersed, were paid by the Ku Klux Klan. It has been announced that all the evidence against Walton will be submitted to a grand jury.

The AMERICAN LEGION

LAWS BENEFIT SERVICE MEN

New York Veterans Are Well Provided for Through Efforts of American Legion.

New York veterans of the World war will receive substantial benefits as a result of the American Legion's successful efforts to obtain passage of laws in the state legislature.

Among the most important measures adopted were laws that include:

Appropriating $150,000,000 for the construction of a road to the veterans' mountain camp of the American Legion.

Appropriating $1,500,000 for the construction of a state military memorial at Kings' Park, to be used solely for the care and treatment of World War Veterans.

Appropriating $10,000 for the payment of $500 annually to each New York veteran totally blind as a result of war service.

Appropriating an additional $1,000,000 for relief of needy veterans, allowing $30 a month to single men, with additional allowances for dependents.

Providing that the city of New York, as well as the board of supervisors in each county, may appropriate funds for the burial of ex-service men and increasing the maximum for such funeral expenses from $75 to $100.

Exempting the real property of the American Legion used exclusively by the posts from the payment of taxes.

Providing that new voters be eligible to vote must pass the literacy test to be given by the state board of regents.

An amendment to the constitution authorizing the legislature to vote on a bond issue for the payment of adjusted compensation to veterans, without submitting the bond issue to the people for approval.

HOSPITAL INSTEAD OF JAIL

American Legion Aims to Secure Liberty of Many Ex-Service Men Now in Prisons.

Many former service men of the World war, now in prison, are believed to have committed the crimes for which they are held when physically or mentally unbalanced as a result of war service. In the opinion of Joseph Sparks, chairman of the American Legion's national rehabilitation committee, Sparks has directed a survey by the Legion of the former soldiers and sailors incarcerated for crimes in the penal institutions and is reviewing these cases with a view of obtaining their release if a mental disability, traceable to war conditions, is proven.

Chairman Sparks is of the opinion that many of these men "drifted into crime" as a result of their physical condition following discharge from service. He estimates that 20,000 such men are confined in the country, and seeks some way to bring relief to them, as the problem is of too great scope for the veterans' bureau to handle.

"It is shocking to think that there are thousands of men from all walks of life confined for crimes that many of them did almost unknowingly, because they were so removed from normal health and strength at the time."

"We have made investigations in some states where conditions are worse than others, and have found that many of the men should have been in hospitals instead of jail, so bad is their condition, and the jail life has not helped," he added.

Experts of the veterans' bureau declare that it is remarkable that not more of the men are in jail, because so many left army service with shattered nerves and were compelled to adjust themselves to after-war conditions.

Dr. Stanley Rinehart, one of the veterans' bureau specialists, said:

"The states must see to it that every service man in prison gets an opportunity to have a hearing if he deserves it, or hospital treatment instead of a jail cell, if this is what he needs."

This problem will be presented at the national convention of the American Legion, to be held in San Francisco.

LEGION OBTAINS NEW LAWS

Oklahoma Organization Accomplishes Much Good for Men Who Served in War.

The American Legion in Oklahoma has accomplished much good for the former service men in a legislative way, according to reports made by department officials. Among the legislation enacted through efforts of the Legion is the erection of a half-million dollar hospital at Muskogee, a quarter-million dollar institution for tuberculosis service men at Sulphur, maintenance of separate wards for former service persons at the University hospital in Oklahoma City, a fund of $50,000 for relief of sick and disabled veterans and for their dependents, exemption of personal property from taxation of veterans in amounts not exceeding $200, designation of Armistice day as a state holiday, requiring that the flag be displayed in all school rooms, requiring teaching of the Constitution in all public schools, and support of state compensation bills for World war veterans.

The Drawback.

"Wonderful nights out here!" exclaimed the tourist as he gazed appreciatively at the star-studded sky.

"Yeah," responded the over-enthusiastic native. "Would he if it was only some of the stars?"

Trouble Ahead.

"If you take the mites on your golfing hole," inspired a friend.

"Yes," replied the one, "I'm sorry, I've never liked it."—American Legion Weekly.

How Suburbanites of Dayton Get Library Books

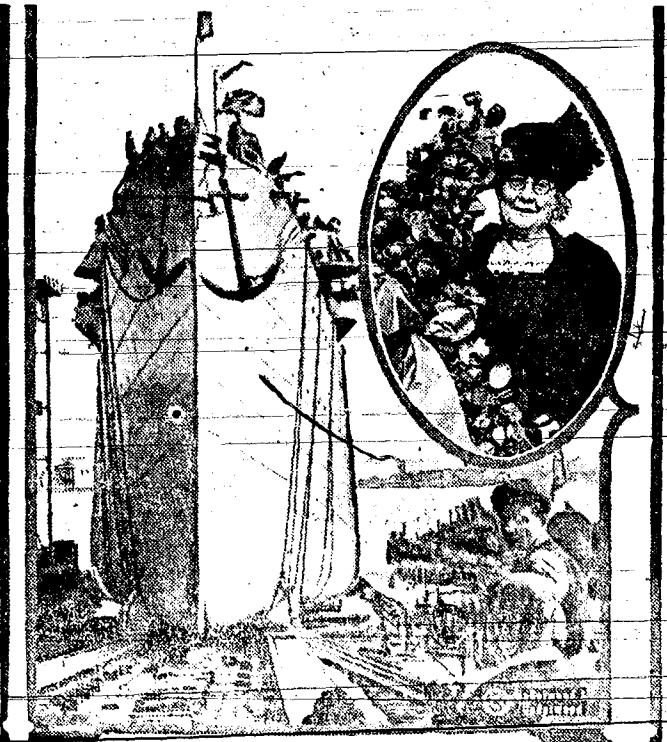

Miss Electra Doren, first librarian at Dayton, Ohio, conceived the idea of carrying books to readers who could not conveniently patronize the library, and her "rolling library," consisting of a truck with shelving for 600 volumes and 104 current periodicals, has proved a great boon to suburban dwellers. The truck canvasses a different section of the suburbs every day. The plan is economical, too, in that it is saving the construction of branch libraries. The photograph shows Miss Doren standing at the rear of the truck.

Scout Cruiser Marblehead Is Launched

Sliding down the ways at the Cramp shipyard, Camden, N. J., is the newest addition to the U. S. navy, just after she had been christened Marblehead by Mrs. Hannah Martin Evans, mother of the first man from Marblehead, Mass., to meet death in the World War. The new vessel is 553 feet long, 55 feet beam at waterline, and is a combined scout cruiser, flotilla leader, mine layer and airplane carrier. The illustration also shows Mrs. Evans.

ALL AROUND THE WORLD

Icebergs weighing 10,000 tons are often found in the Arctic circle. A bedroom floor, made of blue glass with a pattern in enamel, was recently exhibited in London.

In Alabama forty-seven women fill responsible public positions in connection with education. Viscount Lascelles, the husband of Princess Mary, is an enthusiastic collector of old glass.

Measure 200 feet on each side and you will have an acre within an inch. Fourteen million medals have been issued by the British for war services. A single pair of sparrows and a nest of young ones will consume about 3,000 insects a week.

Alcohol has been extracted from coal gas by an English scientist with an average yield of 1.5 gallons of alcohol to each ton of coal.

CLOTHES FOR OUTDOORING;
PRETTY JUNIOR FALL HATS

THE lure of outdoors is ever stronger than during the crisp days of autumn. Cool winds carry invitation to invigorating exercise and with the new materials, in outer wear to choose from, the problem of appropriate and comfortable apparel grows more and more simple. In knitted materials particularly there has been a tremendous development with the sports idea growing stronger all the time. These fabrics have "caught on"

for junior styles in millinery follow the modes for grownups to some degree. This is more apparent in materials than in trimmings, and in the small, close-fitting shapes the difference in styles for different ages, seems sometimes to be only a difference in head size.

In the group of young girls' hats shown here, velvet, embroidered, sectional crowns and shapes all have their prototypes in the autumn styles and remain with us as established parts in the scheme of things in women's apparel.

A new weave in brushed camel's hair is used for making the attractive costume shown in the picture. A wide brown stripe in the material is manipulated to make the collar and cuffs, and it also appears as a band about the jacket and skirt. The pockets and jacket opening are faced with the lighter material.

A costume of this kind may be worn for any number of outdoor activities.

for grown people. But these styles are skillfully modified to make this dressy headwear for juniors in keeping with their years. A velvet picture hat at the top is faced with tulle and edged with a tulle-lined fringe in a bright color. It adopts a slash of wide, soft ribbon for trimming and might be worn by girls from thirteen to seventeen at least. The velvet hat just below it, with seedling crown and embroidered, upturned brim, is equally adaptable. A shagreen model, at the left, is more definitely childish, with a soft crown

Various Hat Styles for Girls.

It is ideal for country club wear or for active sports and is not out of place as a street suit in town. The material combines warmth with lightness and what is equally desirable, it has a breezy, youthful look.

Utility is the second consideration in some of the new sport costumes that have lately made their appearance. These are dressy affairs made of bright-colored silk or wool and are embellished with all-over designs in equally brilliant colors. An interesting model is of party-colored silk, loosely crocheted, with alternate bands of soft, buff-colored suede.

One is apt to run across a youngish grandmother trying on hats designed for the debutante these days.

gathered at the center and sketched, chain-stitch embroidery, in colored silk and band of narrow ribbon tied at side. The last hat in the group, of velvet with upturned brim, has a youthful crown in which an embroidered disk supplies the center, with the scant side crown shirred and joined to it. Shirred velvet covers the brim, but the shirring is simple and not full. A flat flower made of velvet, having its petals finished with stitches, is set in stems, indicated in the same way, and velvet leaves.

In this manner is much better and will also wear longer than when the usual plan is adopted.

Wrap-Around Stays. The Parisienne has definitely decided that there shall be no return to the "regular" corset, the sort which is heavily boned. She prefers a wrap-around, and some of the step-in sort have no bones whatever. But only elastic, they're to relieve the small-and-normal waistline without a "regular" corset is now the designer's problem.

Snakes Commit Suicide. The bureau of biological survey says that rattlesnakes are susceptible to their own poison and may cause death by biting themselves except when severely injured or infuriated and unable to wreak vengeance on their tormentors.

Light Ray Treatment. By treatment with light rays from a carbon arc lamp, it is asserted that 90 out of 114 patients at the Finlay Institute in Copenhagen have been cured of tuberculosis of the skin.

MR. AND MRS. WOLF

"I have looked for some time for a nice place, and I think I have found it now," said Mrs. Wolf.

"I looked at a good many. In fact, I almost set up housekeeping in several and cleaned the dens out, but I didn't like them finally. I thought I could get a nicer home."

"Ah, Mrs. Wolf," said Mr. Wolf, "this is beautiful. This is a perfect home. And how lovely this weather is."

"Dear Mr. Wolf, would any one imagine that the wild and dangerous and blood-thirsty wolf would talk about the weather?" Mrs. Wolf chuckled.

"Ah, they don't know," said Mr. Wolf. "They do not know how we are when we are at home. We love each other so."

"We whisper all sorts of little nothings to each other, though to us they are not 'nothings.' They're 'some things' of great importance."

"Yes, this home is perfect. Well, Mrs. Wolf, I had a dangerous time not long ago. I thought I was caught."

"Ah, don't tell me that," said Mrs. Wolf.

"But you need not worry now," said Mr. Wolf, "for you see that I am here, all safe and sound."

"Yes, yes," said Mrs. Wolf, "but I cannot bear to think that you have been exposed to danger."

"But you have escaped! Yes, you have escaped, and you will be more careful in the future?"

"I am careful," said Mr. Wolf, "but I will be even more careful. I had been hunting and having a little meal and was taking a nap away from the hunting ground—but not far enough away.

"Don't Tell Me That," Said Mrs. Wolf.

"For an old hunter came after me and almost would have had me."

"But the wind was in the right direction so I could get a whiff of the human being coming toward me."

"If it had not been for that wind I would not have been here now."

"Oh, Mr. Wolf, what a narrow escape. And how thankful I am it was an escape!"

"I wish I could give the wind a present to show my gratitude, but the wind isn't the kind of a creature or a thing to whom one can give a present."

"But I am grateful, oh, so grateful," Mrs. Wolf said.

"Yes," Mr. Wolf continued, "we want to be safe, for we only have each other."

As that, tears came in Mrs. Wolf's eyes.

"There, there," he said, "there will be other little wolves, and I am happy, for we have each other. That means everything, Mrs. Wolf."

"Oh yes, Mr. Wolf, that means everything, and dear mate, you are so good to me."

"How well I remember, too, when there were the dear little wolf babies—three darling babies—there were last spring. And after they were born and I was so afraid that something would happen to them, you kept us supplied with food so that I did not have to leave them."

"But oh, Mr. Wolf, for the longest time I thought every time I came back to the den that somehow or other I would find—my babies. Again and again I looked for them—after they had been killed and taken away."

"Oh dear, how sad it was. They were never there. And then we stood, for as long as we could, and now we have another den."

"Yes, and we have a fine hill from which we can see what is going on. And we will be happy, and there will be other little wolves," Mrs. Wolf said.

"But best of all, Mr. Wolf, there is my dear mate."

And then she laughed.

"How strangely our talk would sound to people. They do not know that wolves are different at home from when they see them."

"And after all I think it is better to be nice in the home than outside it. At any rate that is what you think, and it is what I think, for we are two devoted wolves."

"Two devoted wolves is what we are," said Mr. Wolf as he patted Mrs. Wolf on the shoulder and looked at her out of his eyes which now were very loving and affectionate.

THE TRUE HISTORY OF FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

One of the most interesting prescription books at the old drug store of Carleton & Hovey in Lowell, Mass., is that of the year 1855. Under date of June 9th, 1855, is written the original prescription for Father John's Medicine. This prescription was compounded for the Rev. and Father John O'Brien and was so successful in treating Father John's ailment which was a severe cold and throat trouble, that he recommended the medicine to his friends and parishioners. In going to the drug store and calling for the medicine, they always asked for "Father John's" medicine and in this way the medicine got its name.

Father John's Medicine is a safe family medicine for colds, coughs and throat troubles, and as a tonic and body builder, because it contains opium, morphine, chloroform and any other poisonous ingredients but it is safe, pure, and wholesome.

The basis for Father John's Medicine has always been the purest cod liver oil, scientifically compounded with other ingredients so that the rich vitamin content is easily taken up by those who are weak and run down.

THE LAW OF GOD VS. THE GRACE OF GOD.

Lazarus of whose shoes he felt unworthy to untie, and cried out, "Behold, The Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." Jesus came down into the water and received the same baptism that thousands had before him but from that hour when the voice spoke from Heaven: "This is My Beloved Son, hear ye Him," they went forth baptizing "In the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit." As John was the last representative of the old dispensation so Jesus was the first representative of the new dispensation and we can get a glimpse of the difference between the law of God and the grace of God.

Turn to Romans 6-14 and read, "For sin shall not have dominion over you; for ye are not under the law but under the grace. 15-What, then, shall we sin because we are not under the law but under grace? God forbid. 16-Ye are not under law but under grace. Under the old dispensation it was "Do and Live", but under the New is Live and Do. Jesus said "If you love me keep my commandments." A great many folks seem to think the Bible consists in a system of "Thou Shalt Nots." But Jesus did not say you shall not do this and that, but, "Keep My Commandments." Many of us say we Love Jesus but do we? Really now, do we? Are we keeping his commandments? The test of our love for Jesus is how we are keeping his commandments. If Jesus were to put this question to each of us would we answer with St. Peter, "Lord, Thou Knowest I Love Thee." There is a great difference between law and grace. Law says "slay him." Grace says "save him." Under the old dispensation Moses turned the water into blood while under the new dispensation Jesus turned the water into wine. Under the old dispensation Moses removed the sandals from his feet while in the presence of God for he believed he was on hallowed ground while under the new dispensation, God represented as a Father goes running to meet the sinning son who is returning. He orders the best robe for his back and shoes for his feet and a ring for his hand. This is the difference between law and grace.

Now comes the great question, "How are we to become partakers of his grace?" In Hebrews we read: "Let us come boldly to the throne of Grace, and find grace and strength in the time of need."

The writer of the Hebrews says there is plenty of grace and strength at the throne of Grace then why so many lean, lank, puny, half-fed Christians in the world today? There is but one inevitable conclusion. You may make it yourself. Suppose I hand you this book (extending a book) and say it is yours for the taking. I might stand here from now to the resurrection morn but if you did not come and take it, it would never be in your possession. Same way with Christian Grace. It is yours for the taking but You Must Take It. We thus honor God by asking him to do the impossible. "Man's extremity is God's opportunity." When we cannot possibly do the job ask God for "With God all things are possible."

Alexander once gave one of his generals who had befriended him permission to draw upon the treasury for any amount he might choose. When the draft came in the Treasurer refused to make payment until he had interviewed his master. When the treasurer told him what had been done he said: "Why, he hath honored both me and my Kingdom by making a large draft." So we honor God by making a large draft upon the treasury of heaven with its "Unsearchable Riches."

God has prepared a great feast and invited us to become partakers saying: "Come for all things are now ready." "The lamb has been slain from the foundations of the world." Come, there is peace and plenty for all. Only come.

What I want—what you want is grace sufficient to successfully combat the temptations of every day life. If we will but come to the feast prepared for us we will find peace and plenty. There is always more to follow. Once a rich man decided to assist a needy one and decided to give a certain sum to the hands of the minister with the instructions to give it either in monthly installments or in a lump sum. The minister decided to give it on the installment plan. Each month the poor man received his check for $20.00 with this notation written across the back, "More to follow." We are profoundly thankful that after we have come boldly before the Throne of grace and received strength we can hear the "Still small voice" speak to us sweetly: "More to follow."

May the Grace of God reach every heart.

God's Grace to the sinner is what capital is to the industry only capital may run out but God's Grace, never. All of us are rich only we are not using our riches. Suppose I had a $1,000.00 in the bank but my family was living in destitution and poverty. Someone ask me if I did not have any money? "Oh yes! I have $1,000 on deposit in the bank but I only draw out a penny a day?" You smile, but that is exactly what the greater majority of Christians are doing today.

Many are willing to carry our own load if only we can ride. Like the man who replied to an invitation to ride, "Oh, yes I'm willing to carry my own burden if only I can get the ride."

SIGSBEE SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Vance—Teacher. The County nurse visited us Thursday. We have all been gaining in weight since her last visit.

A great many improvements have been made at school this fall. The walls have been painted, the numm repaired and the school yard has been graded.

We are very glad to have a brand-new eight day clock at school this week.

The property adjoining the school yard has been cleaned of the fallen brush which makes it look a great deal better from our windows.

Miss Vance is going to Bay City this week to attend the Institute held there.

Everyone earned an "A" in Agriculture work this month. We hope to have Mr. Bailey visit us soon to help us in this work.

We Do Laugh---

Because business and professional men and some labor men buy so-called investment life insurance, agreeing if unfortunate enough to die within twenty years, that the Company keep their savings account.

The New Era gives the savings to the beneficiary plus four per cent, together with the face of the certificate.

We Don't Laugh---

—it makes us sick to find a labor unionite patronizing or buying so-called old line life insurance at two to five times actual cost, and having their money going to finance the big trusts that are fighting the union.

Preaching—8:00.

We are the church of mutual rights. Everyone likes our government. Many during the past two weeks have left the ranks of the world and are joining us. You will enjoy these services if you attend. Don't miss the adult Bible Classes Sunday morning.

Mr. Payne, Supt. of our school took charge of the morning service to help out the Pastor who has been ill for the past few days and although we are glad to state he is on the job again he did not feel able to take charge of all the services. Mr. Payne surely gave us all some helpful hints some which sank deep in our hearts, his theme being, "Christian Home Love."

Christian Endeavor met at 6 p. m. Leader Miss Lodge, many helpful things along the line of Prohibition were discussed and many people came away with their eyes opened to our present day conditions. Next Sunday Christian Endeavor meets at the usual hour with Lola Craven as leader.

Sunday evening our pastor, although not in his best trim as a result of his illness gave us a good sermon which went over the home plate and the result was several converts. If you don't believe it come and be convinced for who-so-ever will, may come.

The men's and ladies' Bible class has room for more and we will give you the glad hand if you will but come.

We had some visitors from Grayling to our Sunday school and morning worship and wish more of the Grayling folks would take an interest in Frederic and join hands with us for cleaner towns and better churches for Christ.

That interest is being taken in our Sunday School was shown by the large turnout Sunday, there being 23 new faces added to our ranks. The Men's and Ladies' Bible classes organized with the following officers:

Men's Bible class: President, E. A. Corraut; vice president, T. E. Lewis; secretary, S. Barber; treasurer, Charles Badger; teacher, Rev. F. E. Hart.

Ladies' Bible class: President, Mrs. A. Lewis; vice president, Mrs. Chas. Badger; secretary, Mrs. E. A. Corraut; treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Badger; sick committee—Mrs. Doremire, Mrs. Lehman and Mrs. Hart; teacher, Mrs. Chas. Badger.
